

XML Search Goes to Educational Portal

USA - January 26, 2001 (Press Release Network): Canada based e-Studies has announced their intention to use XDisect, a next-generation XML search repository, as a foundation component for e-Studies' advanced Internet education delivery system.

Shelvan Kannuthurai, the President and CEO of e-Studies, says that XDisect's advanced XML capabilities will help our solution meet the needs of our students and faculty members faster and with much less effort than originally anticipated. We have been working with PyBiz for quite some time. PyBiz's excellent e-business XML product suite and related services will be invaluable in helping us reduce our time to market.

PyBiz, Inc. provides XDisect(TM), an enterprise class XML search product with high-speed XML indexing capabilities. XDisect is ideal for distributed management of XML Documents. XDisect provides a foundation for next-generation vertical markets, secure portals and other dynamic e-business applications. XDisect helps customers draw maximum competitive advantage from their evolving business opportunities.
